OUTSIDERS NOT ALLOWED TO BUTT IN AT THIS MEET

At the conference of the Association of Public Employment Offices held at the North Side Turner Hall today, the problem of the casual and short time worker was considered.

Federal supervision of the unemployed and international employment bureaus were some of the remedies advocated.

L. A. Halbert of Kansas City, said that the condition of the men was due to drink. "They should be made to support themselves," he said. "Tax the hobo while at work and use this money for his support when he applies for aid."

James J. Barrett of St. Louis said, "I do not agree with the previous speaker. The conditions under which the men work produces the hobo. I know from experience. I spent three weeks in the grading and railroad camps. It is all wnt for you, gentlemen, to talk about men being physically and mentally deficient, but you have reached your conclusions in your offices and not through practical experience."

He advocated teaching the unskilled laborers, trades.

Jas. B. Connors, pres. of Switchmen's Union said, "There are thousands of skilled machinists and mechanics among the unemployed. The blacklist and corporate greed produces the casual worker."

Delegate Sears of Boston made a motion to close the discussion to outsiders, that "labor officials should not be given the floor when the Chamber of Commerce and Boards of Trade were unrepresented."

At a meeting of the unemployed held at the 21st Ward Socialist Hall, the trust newspapers and the city and county officials were condemned.

"We are tired of the slobbering editorials and articles, we want action, immediate work and not sympathy, were the sentiments expressed by the committee.
